

Eleonora Veglianti, PhD, is Associate professor at the Faculty of Management, Economy and Sciences - University Catholic of Lille, France. Her research expertise is in digital transformation, smart society, artificial intelligence, smart working and organizational issues. She spent different periods abroad to collect data for her researches. She was a visiting Ph.D. student in Wuhan University, in China. She is author of several scientific papers. She managed special tracks in different conferences (i.e. ItAIS, ICTO).